Conflicts of Interest and Incentives

mortgagehq has strong working relationships with New Zealand based lenders. These relationships allow us to provide competitive pricing and help us meet our expected service expectations to a high standard.

Mortgagehq are paid in the form of commission from lenders through which we place business. The amount of the commission we receive depends on the loan amount of any loan, and lender. Typically we receive an upfront initial commission of between 0.45% to 0.85% of the total loan amount.

mortgagehq may also receive annual ongoing commission of between 0.125% and 0.2% for every year your outstanding loan balance that remains with the bank. We will provide more specific details of these commissions once we have talked to you and understand your needs/at the time our advice is given].

Our advisers receive a salary as an employee of mortgagehq. They are eligible to receive a bonus each quarter of a certain level of overall performance is achieved. The performance incentive accounts for (but not limited to) individual financial targets, quality of work, and team performance.

Mortgagehq believe in their recommendations provided to all clients and have an ongoing responsibility to ensure these client's needs and lending requirements are managed to a high standard, and on an on-going basis. This means mortgagehq will receive an ongoing commission payment from the lender for this service.

To ensure that our financial advisers prioritise our clients interests above their own, we pay our advisers on a salary basis.

Mortgagehq policy is to only engage with clients where there is a clear material benefit to be gained for our clients, otherwise, we will refuse to engage. We do not want to waste your time if we do not think we can or should help.

Mortgagehq have clear 'conflict of interest' policies and procedures. Our financial advisers follow an advice process that ensures our recommendations are made on the basis of each client's goals and circumstances. All our financial advisers undergo regular training about how to manage conflicts of interests. We undertake a compliance audit, and review of our compliance program annually, completed by an external compliance adviser.
